

Long Term Goals

1. What did you dream of becoming when you were a child?
2. Where do you spend your free time?
3. Listen to your inner self. What does it really wish it could be doing?
4. What activity do you do that makes you feel happy and when you do it, the time just flies by?
5. What activities, events, shows, and books are you attracted to?
6. Your past does not have to decide your future. If you let your past go and any limitations you've placed upon yourself, what would you be doing?
7. What would success mean to you? What would the perfect life be?
8. What would you do if you had the Universal Credit Card (money is no object)?

Did the questions help you to figure out "what do I want to do with my life"? Hopefully, it started some ideas anyway. You don't even have to know the exact answer when you start out. Just start exploring what interests you and you'll be amazed by where it leads you. You'll wake up one day, just knowing that you're doing what you were meant to. The secret is not to let limiting beliefs get in your way or listen to people who tell you that "you'll never make any money doing that" or "that's not a career" or the famous "you should be a ..." Listen to your heart. It's your life and it's a special gift.
